

The Tragedie

Enter Catesby with Hastings head.

Cat. Heere is the head of that ignoble traitor,
The dangerous and vn suspected Hastings.

Glo. So deare I lou'd the man, that I must weepe:
I tooke him for the plainest harmelesse man,
That breathed vpon this earth a Christian:
Looke ye my Lord Maior:

I made him my booke wherein my soule recorded
The History of all her secret thoughts:

So smooth he daub'd his vice with shew of vertue,
Tha: his apparent open guilt omitted:

I meane his conuersation with Shores wife,
He laid from all attainer of suspect.

Buc. Well, well, he was the couer'd sheltered traitor
That euer liu'd, would you haue imagined,

Or almost beleue, were it not by great preservation
We liue to tell it you? the subtile traitor

Had this day plotted in the counsell house,
To murder me and my good Lord Glocester.

Ma. What had he for?

Glo. What thinke ye, we are Turkes or Infidels,
Or that wee should against the course of Law,

Proceede thus rashly to the villaines death,
But that the extreame perrill of the case,

The peace of England, and our persons safety
Inforst vs to this execution

Ma. Now faire befall you, he deserued his death,
And you my good L. both haue well proceeded,

To warne false traitors from the like attempts:
I neuer lookt for better at his hands,

After he once fell in with Mistris Shore.

Glo. Yet had not we determined he should die,
Vntill your Lordship came to see his death,

Which now the longing hast of these our friends
Some what against our meaning haue preuented,

Because my Lord, we would haue had you heard
The traitor speake, and timorously confesse

The manner, and the purpose of his treason,
That you might well haue signified the same.

of Richard the Third.

Voto the Citizens, who happily may
Misconstre vs in him, and waile his death.

Ma. My good L. your gracious word shall serue,
As well as I had seene or heard him speake:

And doubt you not right noble Princes both,
But Ile acquaint your durious Citizens

With all your iust proceedings in this case.

Glo. And to that end we with your Lordship here,
To auoyd the carping censures of the world.

Buc. But since you came too late of our intents,
Yet witnesse what we did intend, and so my Lord adue.

Glo. After, after coulen Buckingham.

Exit Maior.

The Maior towards Guild-hall hies him in all post,

There at your meetest aduantage of the time,

Inferre the bastardy of Edwards children:

Tell them how Edward put to death a Citizen,

On ly for saying he would make his sonne

Heire to the Crowne, meaning (indeede) his house,

Which by the signe thereof was tearmed so.

Moreouer, vrge his hatefull luxury,

And beaustiall appetite in change of lust,

Which stretched to their seruants, daughters, wiues,

Euen where his lustfull eye, or sauage heart,

Without controule listd to make his prey:

Nay for a need thus farre come neare my person,

Tell them, when that my mother went with child

On that wastat Edward, noble Yorke,

My princely father then had warres in France,

And by iust computation of the time,

Found, that the issue was not his begor,

Which well appeared in his lineaments,

Being nothing like the noble Duke my father:

But touch this sparingly as it were farre off,

Because you know my Lord, my brother liues.

Buc. Feare not my Lord, He play the Orator

As if the golden fee for which I pleade,

Were for my selfe,

Glo. If you thriue well, bring them to Baynards Castle,

Where you shall finde me well accompanied

With
